General Practitioners

As Australians live longer and develop more complex health needs, ongoing integration of Palliative Care training within general practice is crucial. In most cases, patients living with chronic illness die expected, rather than sudden, deaths. This enables planning around their end-of-life wishes requiring proactive communication. This workshop aims to increase your skills in initiating discussions surrounding end of life care with your patients.

Join us for this full day case study and interactive learning workshop presented by Palliative Care specialists. This day will be an RACGP accredited workshop, entitling you to 40 Category 1 QI&CPD points.

A day dedicated to increasing capacity and skills in the area of palliative care.
